

But has reservations over federal funding

Mayor 'happy' with court site

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Mayor James C. Stewart of Romulus said he is happy with the decision of the ad hoc committee assigned the task of finding a new site for the 34th District Court.

The committee, made up of representatives from Romulus, Belleville and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren, has recommended that the court be built on land adjacent to the Romulus City Hall.

"It means that the court will draw many people into the city of Romulus," said James C. Stewart. "That means more business for those who have located in the city."

However, Stewart said he has some reservations about seeking federal funding for the construction of the building.

"I'm afraid construction would be delayed if we had to wait for the paperwork to qualify for federal money," Stewart said. "The longer we wait, the longer we have the problem of the existing 34th District Court building."

Stewart said he would favor a proposal that would permit construction of the court now, with federal funds coming later to defray the costs.

However, he admitted such an arrangement is impossible under the federal public works program for which the ad hoc committee is hoping to qualify to cover the cost of the court construction.

The public works money can only be spent on a project which is not now under construction.

Stewart said he is concerned about getting the court constructed as soon as possible to provide more space for additional duties given Judge James B. Stone by the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Under a partial out-county circuit court set-up, the Romulus judge has been named as one of three judges in the out-county area permitted to handle certain limited circuit court matters.

At present court proceedings in the 34th District are handled in an old school building on Eureka Road just west of Middle Belt Road in Romulus.

One of the court rooms on the site is housed in a temporary trailer parked in the parking lot. The other court room is housed in an old classroom.

Officials of the five communities involved in the 34th District Court operation believe the councils and boards governing the communities will go along with the construction concept.

If federal funds aren't available for construction, Romulus will fund the cost providing the other communities involved help defray the interest.

Federal funds sought to upgrade regional sewage treatment facilities

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Officials of two waste treatment agencies in southeastern Michigan are expected to meet with the Michigan Water Resources Commission Friday to discuss means for their agencies to qualify for federal funding of new sewage treatment facilities.

Officials of the Metropolitan Detroit Water Board and the Wayne County Road Commission will discuss similar, though unrelated, problems faced by each agency in meeting state timetables for upgrading the quality of sewage effluent discharged into the Detroit River and Lake Erie.

The most critical problem being discussed is the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) threat through the Water Resources Commission to withdraw Detroit's permit to discharge treated sewage into the Detroit River unless the Metro Detroit Water Department agrees to a timetable for upgrading treatment systems serving 78 southeastern Michigan Communities.

At stake is some $200 million in federal money which would help defray the cost of upgrading facilities serving the cities of Wayne, Westland, Romulus and Belleville and the townships of Canton and Van Buren among others.

Residents of those communities, along with others who use Detroit water, have already been saddled with a 39-percent increase in their water bills to defray rising water delivery costs.

The loss of the possible $200 million grant for sewage treatment could drive up the costs even more.

"We're concerned with two things here," said Bill Marks, assistant bureau chief of the Water Resources Commission. "First, we're worried about the kind of effluent being discharged into the Detroit River, and we're also concerned about whether the water department will act quick enough to qualify for the $200 million in construction grants."

"Hopefully, in the Detroit matter, some sort of mutual agreement can be reached which will put the upgrading of facilities on a timetable and also will fall under guidelines for federal funds," Marks said.

In another portion of the meeting, the Wayne County Road Commission is expected to officially detail the predicament the county faces in winning approval of a comprehensive sewage treatment plan for Washtenaw County Communities as well as virtually every downriver Wayne County community, including Romulus and Belleville and the townships of Canton, Sumpter, Huron and Van Buren.

As in the case of the Metropolitan Detroit water system, the county road agency, which operates sewage treatment plans serving the downriver communities, must obtain approval of a comprehensive sewage treatment plan before federal funds can be used to construct and upgrade sewage treatment facilities.

Washtenaw County communities have rejected a region-wide plan proposed by the road commission and instead have chosen to support a county plan that would see effluent treated within the county and then discharged into the Huron River just west of the Wayne County border.

Officials of Van Buren and Huron townships have complained about receiving "Washtenaw County's sewage" because of that county's refusal to go along with a super-sewer.

In addition, communities served by the downriver sewage treatment system could face hikes in sewage rates similar to those increases which are likely to be passed on to users of Metropolitan Detroit Water Department sewage treatment facilities if guidelines aren't met.

The downriver system serves communities or portions of communities not hooked into the Metro Detroit sewage treatment system.

An election special

To our readers:
On Tuesday, Aug. 3, Michigan voters will select nominees for the United States Senate for both the Republican and Democratic parties.

This selection will come from a group of highly qualified candidates in both parties, a unique opportunity for voters.

To aid our readers in the selection process, the Romulus Roman and its sister Panax newspapers next week will publish a special section based on interviews with all eight of the candidates.

Since the campaign has received little attention up to now and since it is so important to Michigan's future, we hope the special section will aid each reader in making an informed choice.

Look for it next week.

Community Mart offers a 'super' garage sale

This week's Romulus Community Mart will feature the city's first "super garage sale" at Five Points in Romulus.

Community Mart organizer Beverly McAnally is hoping "that the clutter of one person's garage is valuable to another person in the community."

"We're opening up the market and providing a 'free' day of sales for reusable items which one person may not want," Mrs. McAnally said. "We think it will boost community interest in the event."

Mrs. McAnally said last week's "Nostalgia Day" did not draw as large a crowd as expected, but she said she was happy with the turnout anyway.

"Persons who attended had a good time," she said. "We had on display the pictures of all the graduating classes of Romulus High School dating back to the 1920s, and it was interesting to see our community leaders as they looked when they left school.

Couples with the offer of free space for garage sales, the community mart will offer its usual fare of handicrafts and home-grown produce and flowers.

Lacking at the mart are fresh produce booths.

"There are people just crying for fresh food in this community, but apparently the farmers are having a difficult time harvesting some of their goods this early," Mrs. McAnally said. "They should know the demand is high for fresh-grown vegetables and decorative plants."

Sellers of produce, plants and handicrafts also will be given free space at this week's mart.

The Community Mart runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday on the parking lot of the Romulus Progressive Club, located at Ozga Road just north of the Grant Road-Huron River Drive intersection.

Stewart intervention ends strike

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart is taking some of the credit for persuading employees to settle their contract differences with the operators of Bil-Mars Supermarket, in Romulus.

Store employees walked off their jobs July 4 after the owner, William Simons, refused to discuss a pension program.

Stewart said he called the leader of Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen local 539 last week to "tell him I had no intention of allowing the city's only supermarket in the downtown area to close and deprive people of a place to shop."

"That supermarket is the backbone of the business community in downtown Romulus," Stewart said. "Some other businessmen from the downtown area urge me to get involved, since closing the supermarket would have harmed the entire business community."

"I had no intention to break the strike, but that supermarket was vital to Romulus, and I was going to take any means open to me to assure that shoppers were allowed to enter the store without harassment."

Stewart said he personally spoke to the strikers following unconfirmed reports that shoppers were attacked by picketers outside the supermarket.

"I recognize their right to strike, but they don't have a right to attack the citizens of Romulus," Stewart said. "I ordered a car from the police department diverted to the area of the supermarket to prevent any problems between picketers and patrons of the store."

Stewart said Romulus was "in a bad situation" over the strike.

"People don't know how close the supermarket owner was to shutting the place down permanently,"

Stewart said. "The man had too much of a struggle to get that business going, and Romulus had too much of a stake in the supermarket's survival for me to sit back and allow the store to close without some sort of help."

Stewart said he called Richard Phillips, president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Local 539, to urge him to settle the strike. "I promised the store manager that the patrons wouldn't be harassed, and informed both the picketers and the union president of my promise."

"It was after I talked to both of them that the harassment stopped and the union and owner settled their differences."

Pickers, owner reach accord

The two parties involved in the five-day strike against Romulus' Bil-Mars Supermarket apparently have reached an amicable settlement.

Strikers who picketed the supermarket from July 9 to July 14 returned to their jobs Thursday after Richard Phillips, president of Amalgamated Meat Cutters Local 539, said: "We settled our differences at the bargaining table."

"I can say that the workers are fully satisfied with the settlement we reached following the strike, and would urge citizens of the community to patronize the store again," Phillips said, adding: "Their support helped union members at the store win decent working conditions and benefits which allow them to maintain their homes and families."

Phillips praised Romulus for being "an excellent labor-oriented town" following the strike over economic benefits, including a pension for workers at the store.

"I think the pension thing got played up a little more than it should have been," said Phillips. "We were seeking a better overall economic package, and I can say that we're satisfied with what we won through negotiations."

Supermarket owner William Simons, who had been in business just seven months before being hit with the strike, was not available for comment on the settlement.

However the supermarket, located on Goddard and Shook roads, is back in full operation following the five days of labor strife.

Workers at the store walked off their jobs after 1½ months of bargaining in an effort to settle the dispute, according to Phillips.

Virtually all of the store's employees were covered by the union agreement.

The meat cutters were recognized by the National Labor Relations Board as bargaining agent for the store's workers in late May.

Hink: County requires reordering of budget

One of the candidates seeking election as the Wayne County 27th District commissioner believes that "efficiency" and a re-ordering of priorities in the county budget would better serve not only voters in the district, but throughout the county.

Walter Hink, 31, in his first campaign for political office as a Democratic candidate for the 27th Commissioner District post believes the full Board of Commissioners should take a closer look at the kind of money the county spends on welfare in an effort to avoid "waste."

"The weakest spot in the county budget is in the Wayne County General Hospital allocation," Hink said. "The county yearly appropriates some $90 million for the hospital to fulfill its requirement to care for the indigent of the county, and I believe much of it is lost."

Hink added that he believes "between 40 and 50 percent of the so-called 'indigent people' served by the hospital 'have the ability to pay for their own care'."

Citing a report from 1973 on ways to tighten up the operations at the county hospital, Hink said the

'The weakest spot in the county budget is in the Wayne County General Hospital allocation....'

Wayne County General facility has been a traditional "weak spot" in the county budget which the Board of Commissioners has been too slow in tightening.

"If I'm elected, I'll be but one of 27 members of the board," Hink said. "But if I can't accomplish much with one vote, I can be vocal enough so the people in Wayne County are aware of the irregularities in the county budget and can make some intelligent decisions on what to do about it." "Government can be run as efficiently as private enterprise," Hink declared. "But the operators of the government—in this case the Board of Commissioners—should be dedicated enough to watch their government as though it were a private enterprise and as though they were guarding the public's investment in it."

Hink said an 8 percent appropriation of the full $335 million county budget for police protection,

3 percent appropriation for cultural, educational and recreational needs and three-tenths of a percent appropriation for public works "is a crime when compared to the needs of the county in those areas."

"I'd hope that by policing the use of the county hospital, and possibly changing its form of operation could cut hospital expenses by two-thirds and divert money for other badly-needed services," Hink continued. "Doctors on staff at the hospital are in some cases engaging in what I call 'legalized fraud' by drawing separate salaries for serving on three jobs at the hospital without providing efficient care in any one of those jobs."

"The hospital is in need of better accounting practices, better screening of indigent patients and possibly can only accomplish those through being changed to a private institution."

"Something must be done to stop this sapping of the taxpayers' resources so the taxpayers can receive a better return on their investment in government through better services from that government."

Hunting safety class helps net certificate

Area youths can get a head start on their state required hunter's safety course.

A Hunter Safety Course for youths 13 to 16 years of age who cannot obtain a hunting license without a certificate providing they passed such a course, will be taught by Gary Vardy and Roy Atwood at 37000 Eureka Road, Romulus starting the weekend of Aug. 7-8 and running each weekend through the hunting season.

Cost of the course, which will feature six classes taught from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday, will be $2 per pupil. Enrollment will be limited to 25 students per session.

To be taught are first aid, outdoor survival, the safe use of a bow and arrow, the safe use of firearms and ammunition, hunting safety and the laws and courtesies associated with hunting.

Students should furnish their own cleaned and well-maintained .22 rifle, or a shotgun, for the course.

During the term of the course, the students will get a brief "live" instruction in outdoor safety and survival on a small survival course and will fire five rounds of ammunition, if they use a .22-rifle, or one or two shots with their shotgun.

All weapons brought to the course must be in a case with no ammunition in the chamber or magazine. All ammunition brought to the course must be carried in a separate parcel.

According to Vardy, shotguns are favored as instructional weapons, since it is illegal to hunt game with a .22 rifle.

However, the .22 rifle is acceptable for the target-practice like live firing of ammunition.

During the course, students will walk a small shooting course with BB guns furnished by the Daisy Air Rifle Co. and will be asked to shoot at pop-up targets to prove they know the safe use of firearms.

To enroll students can either call Vardy at 941-7214 or Atwood at 292-5789 after 5 p.m. daily.

Mrs. York seeks 2nd Treasurer's post eyed

A 2-year incumbent on the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees is seeking reelection to the post of township treasurer.

Dorothy Jean York of Ayres Road in Van Buren believes her 5½-year stint as deputy treasurer for the township and 2-year stint in the elective post qualify her for another 2-year term.

The Democratic treasurer is running as part of the Democratic Busch slate which is hoping to fill the supervisor's clerk's, treasurer's and a trustee posts.

Mrs. York grew up in Romulus, moving to Van Buren Township in 1952, and working as a cashier for a supermarket for 15 years prior to being appointed deputy treasurer nearly eight years ago.

She is a member of the Van Buren-Bellefonte Democratic Club, the 15th District Democratic Club, the Wayne County Treasurer's Association, the National Association of Treasurers and the Methodist Church.

She also has served as a Cub Scout den mother, a Brownie Scout den mother and as a member of the Van Buren Planning Commission.

"I take pride in the fact that I always have been a Democrat," said Mrs. York in announcing her candidacy. "I am extremely interested in containing the Willow Run Airport at its present size and putting it under local control."

"I am sure we are about to enter the most critical period of our history in growth of population and industry in our township. I want to help guide that growth and be certain there is a place provided for commercial growth so as not to cause hardship for our people."

Thetford runs on Dem slate with Busch

A 20-year Belleville-area resident with 28 years experience in private business is hoping to fill a Van Buren Township trustee's post.

Floyd G. Thetford, 67, a former head of the Wayne County Department of Social Services' Office of Relief, Medical and Psychiatric Investigations, hopes to fill one of the two 4-year trustee posts open for election in November.

A Democrat running on the Busch Slate in Van Buren Township, Thetford lists as his affiliations the Van Buren-Bellefonte Democratic Club, the Belleville Kiwanis Club and the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Thetford served 10 years in his county post and served another 10 years as vice-president and secretary of the Edison Lake Development Co.

Thetford is the father of two children, both of whom were educated in the Van Buren School District, and lists as his hobbies hunting and fishing.

Of his candidacy, Thetford said: "I never have sought political office for myself before, although I have been active in many campaigns to elect other Democrats."

"I have experience in the business community to know sound business practices and how to implement them."

"As evidenced by my age, I am no newcomer and I am acutely aware of the plight of many of our older citizens.

"I want to start this township's first Center for Mature Citizens' Assistance."

"In this agency I foresee knowledgeable persons assisting our senior citizens in making applications for the programs and benefits that are available to them."

"I know that many forms and procedures required must be overwhelming when viewed from their vantage point."

The mother of four children has lived in Van Buren Township for the past 15 years with her husband, George, and currently is employed as a secretary for Kelly Services Inc.

She has been employed at the General Motors Corp. Truck and Coach Division for the past two years.

Among the affiliations Mrs. Craven lists are with the 15th District Democratic Club, the Belleville-Van Buren Democratic Club, a delegate to the Wayne County nominating convention from the 15th District, the Belleville High School Band Boosters, the University of Michigan Alumni Club, the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts, Trinity Episcopal Church, the Edgemont PTO, the Home Arts Club and the Van Buren School District as an elections inspector.

School census takers press to identify needs of children

Census takers for the Romulus Community School District this week are continuing their tally of children in an effort to contact every resident within the Western Wayne County school system.

Approximately 20 enumerators are contacting every home in the district to obtain information about infants, children and young adults up to 25 years of age.

Involved in the census is collecting the names and ages of those residents who fall into that age group, as well as a child find project, set up to identify those youngsters up to age five whose parents have special concerns about their ability to function in school.

Early identification of children with a need for special help is vital, a district spokesman said, adding that the earlier a child can receive help, the better his or her chance of success in school.

Enumerators for the district can be identified by special identification cards distributed by the Romulus Board of Education and signed by School Supt. James Garfield.

Those residents who doubt the identity of the enumerator can contact the board office at 941-1600 to check.

The survey officially began a month ago on June 21.

'ED' HARRIS

Wayne County Commissioner

26th District

Edgar L. (Ed) Harris has served as a member of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners since December, 1974, representing and fighting for the interests of this district. He hasn't just talked about doing things for Western Wayne County, he has recorded solid achievements:

- Fought for establishment of Out-County Circuit Courts...these soon will be serving area residents.
- Established the County Industrial Development Council, to bring industry and jobs to the district.
- Worked to create economic and recreational benefits--and jobs--as a member of the Intergovernmental Agency Task Force for Detroit-Wayne County Riverfront Development.
- As vice-chairman of the Public Works Committee, fought for new and expanded Wayne County Jail facilities and is implementing a goal of cleaning and restoring drains throughout his district.
- Continues to work for proper health care for all County residents, through membership on the Wayne County Board of Health, now planning a mass flu vaccination program.
- Ed Harris brought to the Board of Commissioners his experience as a skilled tradesman for General Motors and years of community involvement in Scouting, PTA and UAW union activities (he's a former chairman of the board of trustees of UAW Local 22).

He not only understands the problems of working people, but he also is able to put that understanding to work through Wayne County legislation.

This district needs Ed Harris. To help keep him on the Board of Commissioners, call 382-0033 or 382-0380... and VOTE FOR ED HARRIS in the Primary Election on August 3.

Citizens back compensation

Citizens, who attended a public hearing, called by a committee of Wayne County Commissioners, overwhelmingly supported the idea of compensating victims of crime. They also called for sterner punishment for criminals and safer streets.

The evening hearing was held June 23 at the Transfiguration Parish Hall on Detroit's northeast side. It was the second public hearing on the subject by the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the Board of Commissioners. Three bills, which would provide some form of compensation for victims of crime, are before the State Legislature.

Commissioner Edward K. Michalski (D-Detroit), the committee chairman, said his panel must decide what stand to recommend that the county commissioners take on the issue.

As the hearing was concluding, Michalski asked for a show of hands in favor and opposed to the idea. No hands were raised in opposition among 30 persons in attendance.

"At this point, compensation of innocent victims of crime looks like an idea whose time has come," he said. "I think the general public definitely supports the concept."

Among those who spoke was Mrs. Agnes Kwiatkowski, president of the Charles Improvement Association which, she said, encompasses 1,600 residents.

Mrs. Kwiatkowski said her association supports House Bill 5399 which would empower judges to require that convicted defendants make restitution to their victims as part of their probation. Commissioner Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia), a member of Michigan Juvenile Justice Advisory Council, said the council is developing a state-wide plan which will emphasize development of facilities other than detention homes for juvenile offenders.

The gathering was told that a proposal introduced concurrently in the Senate and House stands "a good chance" of being adopted by the Legislature this year.

The plan would compensate crime victims for physical injuries. It was introduced in the Senate by Sens. Patrick McCollough (D-Dearborn) and John Hertel (D-Harper Woods) and in the House by Rep. Jackie Vaughn (D-Detroit).

Larry Tokarski, administrative assistant to McCollough, said the bill has passed the Senate and now is before the full House.

County Commissioner Clemens E. Bykowski (D-Detroit) urged that citizens write their state legislators in support of the concept of compensation for victims of crime.

"When a legislator can stand up and show a pile of letters, it makes his point a lot more effective," Bykowski added.

NACo seeks funds to aid witnesses and crime victims

With strong support from Wayne County, the National Association of Counties (NACo) is moving to corner more federal dollars for non-monetary assistance programs for victims and witnesses of crimes.

A resolution calling on the U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) to give high priority to funding of such programs was adopted at NACo's recent annual conference at Salt Lake City.

The action was taken after two Wayne County Commissioners—Mary E. Dumas of Livonia and Edward K. Michalski of northeast Detroit—conducted a conference workshop on the topic.

Commissioners Dumas, Michalski and Jarrette Simmons of Detroit are sponsors of a resolution which would expand programs for protecting the rights and meeting the needs of victims and witnesses in Wayne County. (Michalski is chairman of the Board of Commissioners Public Safety and Judiciary Committee which is studying the resolution and will recommend a course of action to the full board.)

"NACo's endorsement of this concept means that an organization of 1,548 counties which contain 73 percent of the nation's population will be lobbying for federal funding for the programs we propose," Michalski explained.

The NACo resolution calls on the LEAA "to give higher priority to victim-witness programs in their discretionary grant policies to meet the needs of victims and witnesses and to restore public confidence in the criminal justice system."

"The needs of victims and witnesses of crime often are overlooked by the criminal justice system and other public agencies. That is why witnesses and victims often refuse to cooperate in prosecutions, with the result that many criminals are freed without even standing trial," Mrs. Dumas added.

The victim and witness assistance program proposed by the three commissioners is patterned after guidelines drafted by the NACo Research Foundation and the National District Attorneys (prosecutors) Association. Efforts of both organizations were funded by the LEAA.

Assistance would begin right at the scene of a crime with the police reading to victims and witnesses a statement of their rights, responsibilities and available assistance programs.

A county office would coordinate existing available services such as vocational rehabilitation, emergency food and shelter, Social Security survivors benefits, food stamps, counseling, transportation and protection against intimidation or reprisals.

The Starr County (Canton), Ohio, victim-witness assistance program is one such venture that was described at the workshop conducted by Commissioners Dumas and Michalski.

The program is so successful that not one witness to a crime has failed to appear to testify in the 13 months since the project went into operation.

Counselors especially are careful to question victims and witnesses as to whether they have received any threats, and police are assigned immediately if there have been any, a Starr County representative reported.

No more than two hours of a witness's time is taken up in preparing a case, he also reported, and the program even provides babysitters when needed. Other locations where victim-witness assistance offices are functioning include the Bronx, N. Y.; Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Davis County, Utah; Fresno County, Calif.; St. Louis, Mo.; and Sacramento, Calif.

The push for creation of offices to provide services for victims and witnesses coincides with a drive to provide cash compensation to victims of crime. An act providing up to $15,000 to cover wage losses and medical expenses for crime victims was passed by the Michigan Legislature June 30.

Michalski noted that his committee held two public hearings on the concept of cash compensation for victims of crime and found "overwhelming" support for the idea among those who attended.

"Assisting the victims and witnesses of crime is an idea that was long overdue," Michalski said. "In the last decade there has been too much emphasis on the rights of criminals and not enough on the rights of their innocent victims."

As I see it

Candidates visit Panax editors

By BOB COCHRANE
Editor of The Enterprise-Roman

PANAX CORP. editors, general managers, and corporate officials from around the nation got together recently for a pow-wow at Sugar Loaf Mountain in Michigan's beautiful northwest country.

The three-day conference was tightly scheduled and again proved what so many insiders — and outsiders — are saying: Panax is slowing emerging as the "third voice" in Michigan.

In addition to several purely "journalistic" speakers, the 40 or so Panax executives were visited by seven of the eight Democratic and Republican candidates zeroing in on Phil Hart's Senate seat.

After each had spoken briefly on why they deserved their party's nomination, they were grilled for several hours as to how they stood on the key issues of the day.

The fact that Democrats Richard Austin, James O'Hara and Donald Riegle and Republicans Thomas Brennan, Marvin Esch, Robert Hubert and Deane Baker made determined efforts to be at the conference indicates the importance the candidates placed in such a session.

From these and other face-to-face meetings with the candidates, a Panax editorial board will make endorsements.

The endorsements will be included in a special primary supplement that also will feature answers to several key questions asked of the eight candidates, including Independent Democrat James Elsmar.

Also on hand to tell us what we are doing right and wrong in covering political candidates and events were Morley Winograd, State Democratic Party chairman, and Jerry Roe, assistant to William McLaughlin, the state's Republican Party chairman.

A highlight of the conference was the presentation of awards in the company's nationwide news excellence contest.

Associated Newspapers, which publishes the Wayne, Westland and Canton Eagles and the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman captured two third places and a second. Overall the Panax group of publications which serve Southeastern and Central Michigan won 19 of 33 top awards, with The Macomb Daily leading the pack with 10 awards.

Associated took a second place for front page layout and display, and third in feature photos (Lothar Konietzko's photo of a little ballerina posing as a teapot), and a third in best straight news story (story on the finding of a missing boy written by former reporter Henry Cantin).

In summary, the conference provided an opportunity for editors to compare notes and offered them pertinent insights into the top political figures of the day.

As we see it

What will the government save us from next?

REMEMBER the "Perils of Pauline" — the Saturday afternoon matinee serial that kept us coming back to the theater every week to see how the heroine would be snatched from the brink of disaster? Nobody went out for popcorn while the brave hero was in the process of saving Pauline from the evil clutches of a determined villain.

Today U.S. citizens find themselves in a real-life serial in which an ever-present protector saves them from all manner of so-called dangers. Our great protector is the Federal Government and the dangers it saves us from include our traditional American breakfast.

NOT TOO long ago came the implication from our savior in Washington, D.C. that bacon causes cancer (it might if you ate 46,000 pounds a day for the rest of your life). When eggs were cast in the role of villain in this situation comedy, a newspaper editor from Rochester, Minn., penned his objections to further "salvation" by government:

"The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has now launched another crusade — this time to save everybody from the perils of chicken eggs. Chicken eggs have been around for a long time — a lot longer than the FTC.

And people have been eating eggs since before the time of Moses. But the FTC apparently feels that it has a mandate to save Americans from eggs and from people like farmers who go around saying that it's O.K. to eat eggs. The farmers who produce and sell eggs advertise them as healthful to eat. But the FTC says that's false advertising and it wants the farmers to stop it.

"THE FEDERAL Government hasn't yet banned the egg, but considering the way Washington operates, it wouldn't surprise us a bit if that happens. And then, after banning the egg, the FTC no doubt would ban chickens and go running around raiding the chicken coops.

"We find it hard to believe that eggs aren't healthful. After all, the egg yolk contains all the nutrients to sustain new life, and the egg is one of nature's most versatile foods. Government, it seems, would be a lot better off if it used a little more common sense in its efforts to protect people from themselves.

"We can hardly wait for the next of the never-ending government sagas to save people from the perils of something else. What will it be? The perils of toilet tissue?"

On the Brighter Side

Prejudice of the worst kind

By JIM BRADLEY
Pastor, Fair Haven Baptist Church

PREJUDICE IS AN ugly thing.

It warps the mind, deadens the conscience and tranquilizes guilt. It infects all religious, racial and social groups, and no segment of society is immune to its debilitating influence. It is a cancer that begins to eat away at the mind and eventually reaches the heart.

Like many diseases, this malady infects people without their being aware of it.

These thoughts come to my mind in the wake of Jimmy Carter getting the nomination as the Democratic candidate for president. And opposition is building among Roman Catholic voters that indicates they wouldn't vote for Carter, a born-again Baptist peanut farmer and governor of Georgia.

I'd like to share some of my personal views on the subject. First of all, I also am a born-again Baptist. But I am strongly against abortion, forced busing and some other ideas in the Democratic platform that Carter is committed to support by virtue of his position as his party's nominee.

Also, Carter's position has been so fuzzy and general on most issues that it's hard to tell where he stands. I'll pray until the Republican Convention is over and ask God for wisdom to make the right choice in November.

In the meantime, however, Carter's opposition is taking a two-pronged attack — one valid, the other based on prejudice. Many Roman Catholic priests are upset with the plank in the Democratic Party platform that supports Supreme Court decisions permitting some abortions and opposes a constitutional amendment that would prohibit all abortions.

Several Catholic priests have boycotted events in honor of Carter because of their strong opposition to the platform plank, which Archbishop Joseph Bernardin of Cincinnati, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, says "amounts to opposing protection for the life of the unborn and endorsing permissive abortion."

This, to me, is a truly valid stand on their part and one that is morally justified. In fact, I feel basically the same way about abortion. Speaking only for myself, I am against abortion except possibly in extremely limited circumstances which would require a medical doctor's opinion.

However, it is the second phase of the Catholic opposition that I feel is totally unjustified. Rep. Robert F. Drinan, a Democrat from Massachusetts who is also a Roman Catholic priest, said Thursday that many Catholic voters "may sit on their hands" rather than vote for southern Carter.

"They don't understand a Southern gentleman who is a peanut farmer and talks about a second birth," Drinan said. The priest delegate to the convention added that northeastern Catholics, many of whom are members of ethnic groups, are perplexed by Carter's evangelical style. "He could be in trouble," he said.

This is the part that seems to be pure prejudice.

If these Catholics can't understand Carter, "a southern gentleman who talks about a second birth," let me remind them of Jesus Christ. Christ, the Son of God, was a Jew by birth and "a lowly carpenter's son who talked about a second birth" in chapter three of the Gospel of St. John.

This is certainly not to equate Carter with Christ but to simply point out that prejudice is rearing its ugly head much like it did back in 1960. That's when John Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, had to talk to a group of Baptist ministers in Houston, Texas, to convince all protestants he wouldn't turn the Presidency over to the Vatican if he were elected.

Although Carter says he is personally against abortion, still the Democratic Party is considered by many to be the pro-abortion party.

To oppose Jimmy Carter on the issue of abortion or forced busing, or any other issue for that matter, is not only valid but even commendable if a person is fully persuaded that way.

But to "sit on your hands" or vote against a man simply because he's "a southern gentleman who is a peanut farmer and talks about a second birth" is prejudice of the worst kind.

Let's judge Jimmy Carter on the issues — not on his religion!

If Carter becomes president

Cultural shock awaits reporters

By TOM OCHILTREE
Panax Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — If Jimmy Carter becomes the next president of The United States, the members of the White House press corps are in for the "culture shock" of their lives.

These newsmen are expected to accompany the president everywhere, and in Carter's case that presumably would mean long weekends and holidays in his home town, Plains, Ga.

Carter probably regards Plains as Camelot South. It certainly is a friendly god fearing place in the "heart of Dixie" as the saying goes.

That's just the point. Most of the wise guy, city bred reporters who trail after the President have heard of the "deep, deep south", but when they finally get there they are going to be surprised.

Some of the more perceptive reporters are going to revivals of "Gone With the Wind" on their days off just to pick up the Ambience of Dixie. That may help, but not much. The only way to understand Southwestern Georgia is to live there for a spell, Georgians insist.

Plains is a very friendly town. Everybody knows everyone else, and a surprising lot of them are related. Residents say you can write a letter from anywhere in the United States and address it simply "Jimmy, Plains, Ga.," and Carter will get it promptly.

That claim becomes less startling though when it is realized Plains has a population of 683. A motorist keeping to the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit can drive clear through the town in a minute and a half.

There are two filling stations, eight stores, the cotton gin and Carter's peanut warehouse. One of the gas stations, run by Carter's Brother, Billy, is to Plains what the forum was to ancient Rome.

The town worthies, most of them in bib overalls, gather there daily to tell old war stories, whittle, gently kick the tires of parked automobiles and talk politics.

Yankee reporters, the locals say, will be welcome to take part in these seminars so long as they don't come up with any one liners about Carter, the town's favorite son.

Plains is a very religious town. Carter himself is a pillar of the local Baptist Church. Since the reputation of The White House press corps has preceded it, visiting reporters should not be surprised if nice elderly ladies invite them to attend Sunday services.

Probably the most glaring defect marking the Washington correspondents is that they have been spoiled. There is no way Plains can be transformed into a Key Biscayne, San Clemente or Vail where the luxuries come wall to wall.

Take the matter of gourmet eating. White House reporters like to go first cabin when on the road living on an expense account.

Plains boasts the usual southern dishes such as grits, black eyed peas, country ham and red eye gravy and fried chicken. The real treat though is fried catfish. That is not quite the same as sole with almonds.

Carter has an empty warehouse on Main Street that can be used as a working press room. Presently, the building is decorated in red, white and blue bunting with a sign saying Plains is the home of the next President.

Carter is so sure he is going to win that several months ago he purchased a buffer zone of land around his large brick home. He also wants the town to enforce a zoning code to keep out tacky souvenir shops and fast food joints.

There remains the problem of where White House reporters would sleep when Carter is in residence at Plains. They probably would have to settle for modest accommodations in Americus, a town of several thousand and about 10 miles away, or drive 60 miles in the opposite direction to Columbus, a medium sized city adjacent to the Fort Benning military post.

Will the hidden charms of Plains transform the reporters? Some say that is sure to happen. They expect the visitors to be talking real "south mouth" after the second or third visit.

Poetry Corner

The following poems were written by Marge Laverty of Belleville

"I'LL WAIT"

I will guard this heart of mine,
and keep it for my love.
As there will come a time,
I'll be with him up above.

My eyes will keep open wide,
and watch all things I do.
As some day I'll be at his side,
till then I will stay true.

My ears can listen to your talk,
but talk can't side track me.
Alone and slowly I will walk,
and be as happy as I can be.

The line I walk will be so straight,
and these days and nights are so long.
But for my love I'll always wait,
And I will do no wrong.

In this life, he was all mine,
and I can't change that now.
As it is only a matter of time,
I'll be with him somehow.

SO LONE SOME

If Heaven had a telephone or mail service, too,
I'd call my husband to come home
or git a letter through.

I'd tell him we're so lonesome and that he's really missed.
And tell him that his good old mom can't believe things are like this.

I'd tell him how we've walked around and seen things he had done.
And everywhere we go we found his work. But he is gone.

We both worked hard to git this far,
and we planned on retirement day.
But death for me has really marred the things we dreamed so gay.

He was snatched away so fast,
the blow is hard to take.
His life with me just didn't last.
I'm numb and that's no fake.

"PLEASE, MAMA"

Mama, Why don't you stay home.
I need you don't you see.
All you want to do is roam,
don't you ever think of me.

You meet a man up at the bar,
you perch upon a stool.
You drink 'till you can't drive the car,
and of yourself you make a fool.

The bar now closed so you come home,
up the stairs you stumble and stagger.
You've had plenty and then some,
'cause your tongue just keeps a wagging.

You wake me from a good sound sleep,
with all your noise and fuss.
You rave and curse 'till way down deep,
for you my heart's gonna' bust.

Oh Mama won't you change your ways,
and make me proud of you.
I am tired of what the neighbors say,
so tell me with drinking your through.

Reagan, Connally might close gap

Carter remains vulnerable to attack

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Can James Earl Carter Jr., Democratic nominee, be defeated in November? Less than four months from election day, the answer remains a qualified "yes."

True, no candidate has launched his national campaign with the kind of lead Jimmy Carter enjoys — and lost. But Carter remains vulnerable, open to a political counteroffensive if only the purblind Republicans will see and seize their opportunity.

The concessions Mr. Carter has been forced to make to win the acceptance of the McGovern wing of his party have made him susceptible to an attack from the center and right — an exposed flank left undefended in the Democratic primaries.

Mr. Carter has slandered the U.S.

armed forces by calling their involvement in Vietnam a "racist" war; he has promised pardons for the draft dodgers who ran away rather than serve. He has pledged that he will do nothing effective to bring an end to the twin evils of forced busing for racial balance and abortion-on-demand. He favors an end to penalties for pot-smoking, but new controls on gun owners.

He has ridden the anti-Washington wave to the Democratic nomination, denouncing the federal government as "a huge, wasteful, unmanageable, insensitive, bloated, bureaucratic mess." And then turned around and proposed an array of federal programs that would have caused Lyndon Johnson to recoil.

He wants more federal billions spent on revenue sharing, countercyclical aid to the cities, transportation subsidies, day care centers, housing subsidies and public service jobs.

He has promised to expand the welfare rolls to include the working poor and give welfare folks a "guaranteed annual income."

He has promised the Naderites a new Consumer Protection Agency, and the National Education Association a new Cabinet-level Department of Education. He has agreed to pour billions more in federal funds into the education industry; he has proposed a universal national health insurance scheme, and endorsed the Humphrey-Hawkins "full employment" bill — each of which will alone cost tens of billions of dollars annually. When the country is just coming off the worst peacetime inflation in history, he is talking about an "expansionary fiscal monetary policy for the coming year."

In a Faustian bargain, he has pledged Big Labor he will support legislation forcing millions of unwilling, nonunion members into union shops. He has embraced the common situs picketing bill which would give a single tiny union, with a single grievance, power to shut down vast projects like the Alaskan pipeline.

Jimmy Carter could not carry out a third of his commitments without a vast increase in federal spending, federal power and federal authority. Costed out, the Carter commitments make a mockery, a deception, of his claim to represent other than the Great Society mentality that brought the economy into such disrepair, and the city of Washington into such disrepute.

The only place he would cut is national defense — when the strategic and conventional balances are tipping dangerously against the United States. As George McGovern said the other day, he could certainly run with enthusiasm on the platform the Democratic Party has crafted for James Earl Carter.

There is not now, there never was, any national mandate for this collectivist-socialist agenda.

If the Republicans wish to break up the diverse and contradictory coalition Mr. Carter has put together, they have but one strategy to follow: Abandon all efforts to defend what Washington has done in the last half decade — and attack, attack, attack. Cease worrying about the 18 percent of the country which calls itself Republican, and concentrate upon uniting against Carter that 59 per cent which calls itself conservative.

The best, perhaps the only way, the Republicans can close the gap with Jimmy Carter is to go with a ticket containing the two men in the GOP most capable of articulating a populist-conservative alternative and exposing the closet liberalism of Jimmy Carter. That pair is the ex-governor of California and the ex-governor of Texas: Ronald Reagan and John Connally.

The Rockefeller wing of the party would be outraged, the liberal press apoplectic. But the Republicans, it seems to me, are in the same stew as the old Boston Braves of the National League. They had going for them but two great assets: the brilliant left-hander Warren Spahn and the reliable right-hander Johnny Sain. At season's opening when the Braves' manager was asked what his strategy was for remaining in pennant contention, he had one answer: Spahn and Sain and pray for rain. The Republicans are in that boat today.

Kissinger blind to Cuban meddling in P.R., Mexico

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "Human rights must be preserved, cherished and defended in this hemisphere," Secretary of State Henry Kissinger stated when he started his recent Latin American tour. "For if they cannot be defended here then they are in jeopardy everywhere."

Arriving in Santiago, Chile, for the annual Organization of American States (OAS) meeting, Kissinger warned the military government that U.S. - Chilean relations will remain cool unless Chile improves its performance on human rights. Kissinger privately made it known that the U.S. wants Chile to release some 4,000 political prisoners held by the military government that overthrew the Marxist regime.

"This situation," Kissinger said, "has impaired our relationships with Chile and will continue to do so."

Throughout the entire OAS meeting, neither Kissinger nor the assembled delegates, including the Chilean delegate, was so impolite as to mention that it was Kissinger, under the direction of Richard Nixon, who assisted the Chilean military in overthrowing the Marxist government in 1973. Furthermore, the OAS and Kissinger were loath to point out that Communist Cuba holds some 40,000 political prisoners, according to Senator Richard Stone (D-Fla.) who took extensive testimony earlier this year on the subject. Nor was there any mention of the fact that Cuba had successfully mounted a major military effort in Angola, clearly setting the precedent for military adventures in this hemisphere. A fact made clearly possible when Puerto Rico's governor, Rafael Hernandez Colon, told a House Insular Affairs Committee on May 19 that Cuba was training and supplying terrorists to overthrow the government of Puerto Rico. A high-ranking Ford administration official quickly denied that any evidence existed to support the claim.

"Terrorist activities in Puerto Rico," insisted the Commonwealth governor, "are being sponsored and are within the mantle of Castro's Communist objectives."

Neither Mexico nor Cuba sent delegates to the OAS meeting at which Kissinger condemned Chile but not Cuba. The rationale for this studied public silence by the Secretary of State was that any criticism might discourage Castro from fulfilling his pledge to remove all Cuban forces from Angola. However, four days before Kissinger began his Latin tour, two separate reports cast doubt on Castro's pledge of a troop withdrawal. From Angola, a New York Times correspondent wrote that "Cuban troops were assisting the Angolan government forces" in an effort to end renewed anti-Communist guerrilla activity. And from Stockholm, Sweden, the Chicago Sun-Times quoted Swedish sources as saying "Despite his pledge to withdraw Cuban troops, Prime Minister Castro intends to keep several thousand soldiers in Angola for an indefinite period."

On May 27, Kissinger had told reporters traveling with him to Europe that Sweden's prime minister received a letter from Castro pledging to reduce his 15,000-man Cuban force down to 500 by 1977. Kissinger made much of Castro's pledge — one suspects for domestic political reasons.

At the same time, Kissinger has carefully avoided answering a letter sent to President Ford by 30 Congressmen warning of the growing Marxist influence and activity in Mexico. The letter was sent on May 8, only later to have the daughter of the Belgian ambassador to Mexico kidnapped and nine Mexican policemen gunned down by self-proclaimed Communist terrorists!

All this evidence suggests that Kissinger, with President Ford's sanction, is conducting foreign policy of the United States with the ease with which you blow your nose. Nations and people, in Kissinger's amoral frame of reference, are like so much Kleenex, to be used and discarded.

Double talk causes Esch to find exit

From Panax Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — It has to be one of two things, Rep. Marvin L. Esch, (R-Mich.), suspects.

The people writing the regulations for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) either are kidding us or they have absolutely no sense of the absurd whatever.

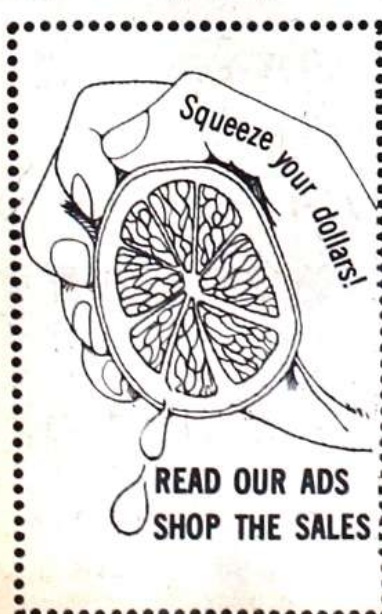

Take this shining example of gobbledygook Esch dug up in revised regulations of the OSHA:

Under the agency's definition the word exit means "that portion of a means of egress which is separated from all other spaces of the building or structure by construction or equipment as required in this subpart to provide a protected way of travel to the exit discharge. Exit discharge is that portion of a means of egress between the termination of an exit and a public way."

Compare that with the dictionary definition of exit as "a way out of an enclosed place or space."

Everyone favors regulations which make work places safer, but it is necessary for the OSHA to use such "bureaucratic double-speak?" Esch asked. He added:

"The way the regulations are being written, I don't think the bureaucrats at OSHA know whether they are coming or going."

Happy smiles were in order on Monday of last week as Britta Pohl and Anne Griffith posed for a final picture for the Belleville Enterprise photographer. But last Thursday the scene turned to tears and sobs as the Griffiths saw Britta off for her home in Schorndorf, Germany. A "second daughter" to the Belleville family for the past year, Britta was part of the Youth for Understanding Student Exchange Program. Maggie, the Griffiths' Basset hound, (left) reflects the real mood of the clan on having to bid "auf wiedersehen" to Britta.

Returns to Germany

Britta bids 'bye' to Belleville

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The nation's Bicentennial year will hold very special memories for the Floyd Griffith family of Belleville since it was the time in which they shared their home and their American way of life with a "lend-lease" second daughter from Germany, Britta Pohl.

When the Griffiths — Floyd, Sally and their daughter, Anne — applied to the Youth for Understanding's teen-age exchange program, they were given forms to fill out and asked questions dealing with various aspects of their lives. The answers, in turn, were used in selecting just the right person to jibe with Anne's personality, interests, likes and dislikes. They did such a fantastic job that over the past year the two girls were constantly asked if they were twins or sisters.

Youth for Understanding (YFU), headquartered in Ann Arbor, is the nation's largest teen-age exchange program and seeks to promote greater world understanding through student exchange.

From what Britta had to say, it served to prove that Americans are a different breed from those seen on the tourist circuit in her country. She was most impressed, she said, by the open and friendly attitude of our citizens and how trusting and helpful they are.

While attending Belleville High School with her "sister" Anne, she was a member of the German Club, the Concert Choir and the Student Senate. The two seniors also took advantage of the Shakespearean Festival at Stratford on Avon in Ontario, Canada which was sponsored by their English classes; ergo, a visit to another North American country for Britta.

St. Aloysius Church is setting for double ring ceremony

Baskets of yellow and white gladiolas adorned the altar of St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus as Patricia Sypula and Robert Darnell exchanged wedding bands and nuptial vows.

The Rev. John Buehner officiated the spring ceremony before some 100 assembled relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sypula of 28275 Smith Rd., Romulus, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Elton Darnell of 36804 Grant Rd., Romulus, and Ms. Janet Darnell of 36731 Porter, Romulus.

For the 3 p.m. rite the bride chose to wear a long A-line gown of white crepe satin styled with a choker neckline above a V-shaped illusion insert. The sleeves were long and fitted with a full sweeping train adding back interest to the dress.

Her 3-tiered illusion veil was outlined in satin and fell from a crescent cap of lace and pearls. Both the gown and veil were made by the bridegroom's mother.

A bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and trailing ivy completed her ensemble.

Preceding the bride and her father up the aisle were the matron of honor, Mrs. Margie Bayes of Romulus, and the two bridesmaids, Barbra Sypula, the bride's sister, and Janie Slater of Romulus.

Mrs. Bayes was gowned in a yellow satin dress patterned in the empire mode with a V neck and long, puffed sleeves. She carried cascading salmon-colored daisies, yellow roses and baby's breath.

Jeff Samson of Romulus was asked to be best man. Ushers were Ray Pokorwinski and John Hadyniak, both of Romulus, and brothers of the bridal pair, Jim Darnell and Ron, Tim and Mike Sypula, all of Romulus.

At the reception, which followed at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wayne, the 400 guests were greeted by Mrs. Sypula in a pale blue qiana knit 3-piece gown with white accessories. A multi-flowered beige polyester gown and gold accessories were worn by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Darnell. Both were presented with white orchid corsages.

The newlyweds plan a honeymoon later in the year. At present they are making their home at the Park Hill

Apartments in Wayne.

Both Pat and Bob graduated from Romulus High School, she in 1975 and he a year earlier. She is an employee of Airlines Parking, Inc. of Romulus and he works for Taylor Grinding in Taylor.

Mrs. Darnell played hostess at the rehearsal dinner at her home on Porter Street.

Local foursome in Poland for educational program

A 45-day trip to Poland is now a reality for 13-year-old Mark Feitel, who will be a ninth grade student at North Junior High School in the fall. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Feitel of 11225 Morton Taylor Rd., Belleville, and the grandson of the late Katherine and Zygmunt Gerzakowski (Mrs. Feitel's parents) who emigrated to the United States from Poland.

Mark is just one of many students who have been enrolled in the Polish Ethnic Class sponsored by the Polish National Alliance (PNA) of Belleville. The courses in Polish language, history, customs, song and dance were taught to some 50 students from the ages of four to 16. Instructors were Michal Krolewski, Myra Ryback and others who commuted from Detroit for the 2-hour Saturday programs.

Many parents from the Belleville, Willis and New Boston area became involved as the program progressed.

Mark's traveling mates will include Phillip Wawrzyniec, a 15-year-old sophomore at Aquinas High School, and his 16-year-old sister, Monica, a student at St. Mary Academy in Monroe. They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wawrzyniec of 34701 Prescott Rd., Romulus.

Completing the local group is still another St. Mary's student, Renee Sochocki, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sochocki of 25274 Waltz Rd., New Boston.

They were among the 60 students of the Galicia-Polish American Folk Theatre group from Pennsylvania, Canada and Michigan who left Detroit via chartered bus July 8 for Toronto, Ont.

Under the direction of Michal Krolewski, they departed by plane and flew directly to Warsaw, Poland and then went on to their initial stop, Torun, where they are being housed in dormitories and attending daily classes.

Taught by European instructors, the classes include dance, song, language, history, customs, arts and crafts. Many side trips throughout the country are also planned as the group moves to other cities for housing and education. Students will also be given time off to visit with relatives.

Local students wish to take this opportunity to thank the PNA for its help in sponsoring the class; for the many fund-raising ventures and most of all for the most generous scholarship funds which is making the educational trip possible.

They wish to thank, too, the many people of the community who supported their bake sales, dances, performances, etc. to help them raise a portion of the needed funds.

Classes will resume in September at the PNA. Enrollment will be announced at a later date. For further information, call Maria Lehto at 461-6903.

Destination-Poland

Four young people from the area currently are across the Atlantic, in Poland, taking part in a 45-day Polish ethnic program sponsored by the Polish National Alliance (PNA) of Belleville. Among the 60 students from Michigan, Pennsylvania and Canada are (from left) Renee Sochocki of New Boston; Phillip Wawrzyniec and Monica Wawrzyniec of Romulus, and Mark Feitel of Belleville. The foursome are being taught classes in dance, song, language, history, customs, arts and crafts of their Polish forebearers.

MR. AND MRS. CALVIN E. WALLS

Groom's father presides at July wedding ceremony

Julia Ann McWilliams held a circular bouquet of white carnations, roses, baby's breath and ferns as she exchanged wedding vows July 2 with Calvin E. Walls at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Walls of Juniper Drive, Belleville.

Charles Walls, newly appointed Magistrate of the 34th District Court, presided at his son's 7 p.m. marriage. For the double ring rite, arrangements of white mums and gladiolas were used as background.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McWilliams of Hunt Place, Ypsilanti, the bride wore a toe-touching gown of white crepe designed with a high collar of lace appliques which extended down the front to a little lifted bodice traced with matching lace. In lieu of a veil, she chose to wear a white straw picture hat.

The bride's cousin, Janice Byrnes of Ypsilanti, was her only attendant in a pale blue gown and hat. Her bouquet was fashioned of white carnations and pink roses.

Charles E. Walls of Westland was his brother's best man.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a blue formal length gown while Mrs. Walls, the bridegroom's mother, donned a black and white ensemble. Corsages of white carnations and yellow roses were presented to both mothers.

The 17 guests attending later drove to Ypsilanti for the wedding dinner held at Haab's Restaurant.

A honeymoon trip to the Virgin Islands has been postponed until the fall. The newlyweds currently are making their home at 2679

Arrowwood Trail, Ann Arbor.

The new Mrs. Walls graduated from Belleville High School in 1972 and is presently attending night classes at Washtenaw Community College. She is employed at Carpenters Union No. 512 in Ypsilanti.

Her bridegroom is a 1974 alumnus of Belleville High School who is in his third year at the University of Michigan. He is affiliated with the student program at General Motors Assembly Division.

PWP planning future events

The newly formed Belleville Chapter of Parents Without Partners (PWP) held its second meeting July 9 with 17 people in attendance. The group discussed the activities to be held as adult events as well as those to be held with their families.

A visiting member of the Wy-lotte Chapter of PWP described the many programs the chapter had held and its planned coming events.

Following the meeting several people met for pizza at Little Caesar's on E. Huron River Drive. Plans were made for a bowling outing July 16 at Lodge Lanes of Belleville.

The organization is open to anyone who is a parent without a partner, both men and women, single, divorced or unmarried.

For further information, please call 697-1371.

WOTM has new candidates

Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter No. 1135, held its college of regents chapter night on July 12, with 27 collegians from neighboring chapters and Belleville in attendance.

Enrollment was held in honor of Belleville's new collegian, Geraldine Mills. Four candidates were enrolled: Mrs. Dolores Temple, Mrs. Carolyn Himes, Mrs. Theresa Himes, and Mrs. Deborah Bolton. Geraldine Mills gave a speech on her recent trip to Mooseheart.

Congratulations were extended to the following collegians: Elizabeth Mills on receiving her red tassel and June Sanders on receiving her red stole.

Governor Clyde Bower, of Belleville Lodge No. 934, gave a brief but encouraging speech to the group. Refreshments were served after the meeting closed.

The business meeting will be held July 26 at 8 p.m.

For the benefit of newer members, meetings are held on the second and fourth Mondays of the month at 8 p.m. Members are urged to attend these meetings. It takes all the co-workers to make the chapter a success.

At St. Anthony's

Sineveck-Ritter exchange wedding vows

In a candlelight ceremony June 25 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Cheryl Ritter became the bride of John Sineveck. The 7 p.m. rite was conducted by The Rev. Raymond S. Skoney before some 250 guests.

The double ring service united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ritter of 95 Bedell Street and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sineveck of 1600 Lilley Rd., all of Belleville.

Cheryl, given in marriage by her father, made her own wedding gown and veil. Fashioned of chamisee satin, the dress featured a high mandarin neckline, fingertip sleeves and a chapel train. The little fitted bodice was enhanced with hand-made lace appliques and tiny seed pearls.

Romulus Cubs in Scoutacular

A number of boys from Cub Scout Pack No. 1739 in Romulus felt it a real treat being part of the Scoutacular '76 Show held recently at Pontiac Stadium. They worked hard preparing their costumes and readying their props for the big event June 12 and 13. All boys participated both days in Act II as the Modoc Indians of Southern California.

Jim Sanders posed as the chief for the Modoc tribe as Captain Jack. Others taking part were Arvin, Roland, Roger and Robert Dionisio, Scott Grobbel, Mike Lambrix, Mitchell Lilly, Mike and Jim Kosikowski, Jeff and Bobby Sanders, David Sawacki and Duane Smith.

Adults who gave the group encouragement and much assistance included Myra Sanders, tribe coordinator; Jim Sanders, Captain Jack; Clarence Lilly, captain leader; Alice Dionisio, tribe leader; Ron Shawn and Dawn Arnett, backstage helpers and Roger Dionisio, photographer.

Belleville, Romulus have new additions

Among the area couples who were hoping for a Bicentennial baby were Helmut and Connie Preis of 13515 Lenmoore Rd., Belleville. Making his appearance July 6 and missing the big "Fourth" by just two days was Michael Helmut Preis, the new brother of 22-months-old Anna Preis.

Michael arrived at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, his weight being recorded at 8 lbs. - 10 ozs.

Mrs. Preis is the former Connie Troutt, the daughter of former mayor Terry Troutt of Romulus. Mr. and Mrs. Emil Preis of Romulus are the infant's paternal grandparents. Michael is the fourth grandchild on both sides of the family.

"It's a boy" was the news being announced June 12 as Daniel and Beverly Thorpe welcomed their first child at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. The 9 lb. - 6 oz. heir was titled "Todd Murphy."

The Thorpes reside at 35474 Smith Rd., Romulus. Mrs. Thorpe is the former Beverly Murphy, the daughter of Thomas and Nola Murphy of Westland.

The baby's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Laura Faybrick of Romulus and his great-grandmothers are Mrs. Mary Ellinger of Burt Lake and Mrs. Christie Murphy of Fruitport.

'Good Doctor'

Playwright Neil Simon has adapted the stories of Anton Chekov for the stage in the musical comedy "The Good Doctor", the final show to open as part of the Wayne State University Summer Theatre Festival. The play, starring Wayne Turney (center) as The Writer (Anton Chekov), will be at the

Comedy fills play schedule at Hilberry

The Neil Simon-Anton Chekov comedy with music, "The Good Doctor", will be the final show to open at the Wayne State University Summer Theatre at the Hilberry Theatre in Detroit.

The play will open July 30 and will continue through Aug. 14, with performances Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

"The Good Doctor" is Simon's stage adaptation of stories by Chekov, with music by Peter Link. Made up of nine vignettes, the mood of the play ranges from the farcical to the poignant, and is linked together by The Writer, played by Wayne S. Turney, who offers wise and droll comments on the characters he creates.

To act the various roles in the sketches, Turney is joined by Hilberry actors Michael Rothhaar, Deborah Eckols and Michael Tylo, and by guest actress Mary Gutzi, a graduate of the University of Detroit.

The Hilberry production is directed by Richard Spear, with setting by Russell Smith, costumes by Daniel Thomas Field and lighting by Gary M. Witt.

Reserved seat tickets are on sale at the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Hilberry Theatre at Cass and Hancock, Detroit 48202. For telephone reservations, call 577-2972.

Running concurrently with "The Good Doctor" is Edward Albee's "Seascape," being presented in the Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberry.

Wild terrain seen only from canoe

U.P. rivers are state's most scenic

The rivers of the Upper Peninsula offer avenues for exploring some of Michigan's most scenic and wild terrain, which can be seen only by canoe.

Tahquamenon, Fox and Manistigue, offer spectacular trips ranging from a few hours to several days. These are not "whitewater" rivers and are safe for family canoeing.

Whichever of these three spectacular Upper Peninsula rivers canoeists may choose, they will see facets of Michigan's water wonderland viewed by few tourists.

The Fox River is a top-notch trout stream and the Tahquamenon and the Manistigue river offer good fishing for trout, bass, walleye, pike and perch.

A canoe trip on the 90-mile Tahquamenon takes from one to two weeks, depending on how many stops are made, and if sightseeing and fishing are included.

Westernmost Tahquamenon River launch point is near McMillan, off County Road 415. The first 5-mile segment is through an extensive willow marsh that lacks campsites. Below that marsh, campsites are numerous. Shorter trips start at the Dollarville Dam, just west of Newberry, or from the Lower Tahquamenon Falls campground to the river's terminus at Rivermouth Campground on Whitefish Bay. Canoeists will catch glimpses of wildlife along the way.

There is a canoe livery and supplies are available on the river at Lower Tahquamenon State Park. Other liveries and supplies, not on the river, are at Dollarville, Newberry and East Paradise.

There are portages for canoeists on the Tahquamenon at Dollarville Dam and around the Upper and Lower Falls.

A sign suspended from a cable spanning the river about a half-mile above the Upper Falls warns boaters to take out on the south side where the Tahquamenon River cruise boats tie up.

Canoeists portage along a boardwalk to a point below the Upper Falls and launch their craft for the 4-mile trip to the Lower Falls. There are no signs warning of the Lower Falls. When canoeists reach a slight rapids, they take out on the south side and portage around the Lower Falls on a scenic foot trail, putting canoes back in below that falls.

There are camping facilities near the river at the Lower Falls.

Canoeing from there to the rivermouth is an easy 6- to 10-hour trip. No roads parallel the Tahquamenon but motorists cross the river on M-123 north of Newberry and on County Road 415 just north of McMillan.

Canoeists on the 50-mile Fox River can start 2- to 3-day trips at the public access site below Wagner Dam. Camping is permitted there and at the Fox River campground in the Grand Sable State Forest, six miles northwest of Seney, and at Seney Municipal Park. Enjoy some of the state's finest trout fishing along the way. There's a canoe livery at Germfask, six miles south of Seney on M-77.

Motorists also can enjoy this scenic stretch. County Road 450 parallels the Fox River from Seney to the Wagner Dam.

The Fox River flows into the 75-mile-long Manistigue River about five miles northeast of Germfask. A popular Manistigue River launch point is at Germfask, where supplies are available. The Manistigue passes under M-77 less than two miles south of Germfask and enters the Seney Wildlife Refuge, passing through a 14-mile segment of that sanctuary. There are no towns on the river between Germfask and Manistigue.

Early industrial period depicted

A new attraction at Greenfield Village in Dearborn is the opening of seven shops and mills that depict the early stages of the American Industrial Revolution. A Crafts Center, which acquaints visitors with the hand production of goods prior to the Industrial Revolution, opened last summer.

The Harahan Sugar Mill, which is located in the Village Industrial Area, is modeled after one used in the mid-1800s in Louisiana and is the starting point for a tour that takes visitors into three saw mills, a brick works and a machine shop. Also one can look into the Richart Carriage Works. Opened for the first time in many years, these buildings represent a period in the mid-1800s when many Americans stopped making goods at home for the first time and spent their workday away from home at a small mill or shop.

Visitors can trace the development of wood sawing techniques at the Spofford Mill with its heavy and primitive sash frame saw, the Tripp Mill with its lighter frameless blade and the Stoney Creek Mill with its circular saw.

The Macon Brick Works was built in Greenfield Village to conform with early brick and tile making equipment. The machinery in this shop has been used to make replacement bricks for several of the village's historic buildings.

The Armington and Sims Machine Shop is typical of an 1870s manufacturing plant with its lathes and other machinery driven by belts connected to long overhead shafts that are powered by steam.

DSO cabaret benefits set

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO) will play three colorful benefit "pops" concerts during its new "Cabaret at Cobo" series next month, to help raise money for the many youth concert programs which the DSO, offers throughout the year. DSO Principal Pops Conductor Richard Hayman will be on the podium for the three evening concerts at 8:00 p.m. August 17, 18 and 19 in Cobo Hall's Riverview Ballroom.

The Aug. 17 program will be an all-orchestral one; Aug. 18 will feature violinist Sue Synnstedt and Aug. 19 will feature pianist Kenneth Kelter. Both of the young soloists have been participants in DSO youth activities. Miss Synnstedt is a member of the Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra, and Kelter as a soloist in the Education Concert Series.

Tables seating four will help provide an intimate cabaret atmosphere at the three concerts, and drinks and refreshments will be available for purchase.

Tickets are $24 and $20 per table, of which $4 is tax-deductible as a donation to the DSO youth programs. Advance mail orders are being accepted at the Ford Auditorium Box Office or call 961-0700 for information.

Walks planned

It will be a busy week at the Kensington Metropark near Milford, with select nature walks on tap for parkgoers.

The first walk will be held Friday at 9:30 p.m.

The 2-hour program will include sky interpretation and summer insects.

Participants, who should meet at the park's Nature Center as in all the walks, are asked to bring insect repellent and a flashlight.

The second will be a geology nature walk at 8 a.m. Sunday and will include a composite of a slide presentation and visit to a gravel pit, with emphasis on the Ice Age and its significance in southeastern Michigan.

The third nature walk also will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday with the walk leader pointing out items of seasonal interest to participants.

The final program will be next Thursday and will be an astronomy cruise at 9:30 p.m. on the park's boat, the Island Queen which sails on Kent Lake.

Constellation identification and sky legends will be featured. This program has a $2 charge per person, and advanced registration is required.

For further information on any of the four programs contact the park's nature center at 685-1561 in Milford.

Big Band returns

The Woody Herman Orchestra will appear at Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens on Sunday, providing concerts at 6 and 8 p.m. at the Plaza Stage. Music goers should bring their own chairs, since seating is limited.

The concerts are free, except for vehicle entry permits of $5 annually, $1 for senior citizens and $1 daily.

For details contact Metro Beach Metropark at 963-3022 in Detroit or 463-4581 in Mt. Clemens.

In the 1890's Americans still considered the automobile a somewhat freakish invention. They relied instead on railroads, bicycles, and horse-drawn carriages to get them around. And no wonder, in the America of those days only 200 miles of paved roads existed outside the cities. There was predictably little interest in European cars and engine development for about a decade after they had begun to be exploited in France and Germany. Soon after 1890, however, American automotive pioneers began assembling crude horseless carriages. If you like to work on your own car, visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, for the parts and tools you need! We feature every type of part or accessories for both foreign and domestic cars. Our friendly staff will be happy to help you select the parts you need for your car. Emergency system appears set for freeway

The State Department of Highways and Transportation is planning to take bids on the installation of emergency motorist aid system for a 25-mile stretch of the county Wayne freeways.

Wayne County Commissioner Clemens Bykowski, who has been pushing for the roadside telephone emergency system, said the project still is under study by traffic engineers and safety experts. However, bids on the emergency signal equipment will be taken in late 1977, he added.

Highway officials have estimated the cost of the system will be between $700,000 and $950,000. Possible locations for the public safety project are I-94 — Edsel Ford Freeway — I-96 — Jefferies Freeway — and I-75 Chrysler and Fisher Freeways.

"It was suggested earlier that highway officials were leaning to a section of I-94 from Detroit Metropolitan Airport eastward, perhaps as far as Harper Woods, but I've been told that any section of the three freeways is a possibility," Bykowski said.

Donald Orne, an engineer in the Traffic and Safety Division of the State Highway Department, told Bykowski that any public communications system was "only as good as what happens on the receiving end."

"Since the purpose of the callbox system is to put a motorist in distress in touch with a police agency, it's important for us to research the number of policy jurisdictions involved in the area of the project — and how they can be coordinated, to provide the best response," Orne explained. "The state will be committing significant funding to install a distress system, so we want to make sure we put it where the need is greatest."

"Traffic volume, the number of accidents in a given area, car theft and stripping problems and criminal harassment of stranded motorists are important in reaching our decision."

Two types of equipment are being evaluated by highway engineers, a wireless telephone unit that provides 2-way communication between the motorist in trouble and police officer, and a coded signal callbox which would send an approximate signal directly to police headquarters with the motorist receiving a confirming signal that help was on the way.

Either one would be installed at half mile intervals, said Orne. Orne told Bykowski his department would come up with a final recommendation on the type of equipment and where it should be installed within six months.

It then has to be approved by the State Highway Commission, a 4-member board appointed by the governor, the local agencies involved, and the Federal Highway Administration, which provides 90 percent of the funding. The state, local governments or both provide the balance.

Highway Director John P. Woodford publicly has pledged his support for a motorist aid system to be built on a Wayne County freeway. Once a bid is accepted the state normally gives a contractor 12-18 months to complete the project.

"With that timetable, it will be more than 2½ years before the motoring public has even a limited opportunity 'phone' for help," Bykowski said. "I'm extremely disappointed that we can't speed things up. We have horrible incidents occurring on our expressways. Police officers are being laid off. And motorists simply are afraid to travel our highways, especially at night."

"I am particularly concerned about handicapped and senior citizens and women who are afraid to use our expressways without the safety factor of an emergency phone being readily available for any type of assistance."

Bykowski emphasized that the phones were not only for police-related matters, but for emergency problems such as heart attacks, flat tires and running out of gas. "But at least we're headed in the right direction," Highway officials are more inclined to make major public investments in public security as well as new pavement."

Bykowski said he hopes to persuade officials to install a 50-mile pilot project which has been part of the original discussions.

Each year the Federal Government collects approximately $5 billion from its 4-cent tax per gallon on gasoline, plus taxes on oil and tires. This goes into the Highway Trust Fund which was established in 1956 to help states build highways.

The Federal Highway Administration, which administers the fund, has decided that projects like callbox systems qualify for federal assistance. Thirteen states and Washington, D.C., have taken advantage of this opportunity for federal money Bykowski pointed out.

In 1975-76, Michigan received nearly $290 million from the Federal Highway Administration, but spent only $1 million on public safety projects. It also received $2.9 million from the National Traffic Safety Administration, for a total of $3.9 million for public safety spending. Bykowski thinks it should be a lot higher.

"I personally favor a wireless phone system because it provides a human response. We've tried television cameras and sensing devices, but if you're in trouble you want the reassurance of talking to someone," he said. "The color-coded button system would be better than nothing, but it's highly vulnerable to pranksters who would be inclined to push the button calling for an ambulance, a police car or other services."

"When you have 2-way communication, you eliminate much of the temptation for false alarms." Bykowski further stated he will urge officials to select the Jefferies Freeway for the project, especially the new section now under construction that will run through Northwest Detroit, Redford Township and Livonia.

He pointed out there is great difficulty in finding telephones or gas stations that stay open after 6 p.m. along that route.

Slanted viewpoint

The view from the telephone definitely was a slanted one recently as workmen for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. worked to straighten the leaning poles. The shoulder along Merriman Road north of

Red Cross:

Remember, give blood

Summer vacation is a happy time of the year, but an unforeseen accident can turn that happiness into tragedy.

The American Red Cross is warning vacationers to drive safely and be extra cautious in unfamiliar surroundings. And for those who are blood donors, it is adding another caution: Remember the Red Cross.

The organization is asking that blood donors contribute before going on vacation to help insure that blood demands for hospitals will be kept at a maximum during the summer months.

Residents who would like to give blood, must be at least 17 years of age and weight at least 110 pounds. Blood donations can be made every eight weeks, but not more than five times each year.

The entire procedure of donating takes blood 40 minutes, with a large portion of that time—30 minutes—needed to collect the donor's medical history, blood pressure, and temperature and to rest with refreshments after contributing.

Permanent Red Cross donor sites are open during regulars on weekends and during the week, while blood mobiles visit communities throughout the area.

Two donor sites in the Western Wayne County area are the Dearborn Donor Center and the Livonia Donor Center. The former center is open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday, 2 to 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. That center can be reached by calling 274-5450.

The Livonia centers' summer hours are 2 to 8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. It can be reached by calling 422-2787.

Split-cost campaign aims at disadvantaged in county

A split-the-cost campaign to put more unemployed and disadvantaged to work in the private sector has been set up by the Wayne County Office of Manpower.

"Our office will reimburse private employers for half the hourly wages of on-the-job training costs of those unemployed qualifying under Title I of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA)," said Arthur Lewis, director of the office.

Some of the on-the-job training slots open are in hydraulic valve repair, butcher, glazier and vending machine repair.

The Office of Manpower will select and match potential participants to employers' requirements, based upon interest and aptitude. Contracting employers will have an opportunity to interview participants and make their selection, Lewis added.

In order to be eligible to participate, employers must have a staff vacancy that they would be willing to train a participant to fill, have sufficient supervisory staff to provide on-the-job training, be in a field that does not have a large number of laid-off workers, and be willing to hire and retain the CETA participant as a regular employee.

Lewis said those employers interested in providing on-the-job training should contact the Wayne County Office of Manpower Planning Department at 224-7183.

County allocation aids in transporting seniors

A $50,000 allocation by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is enabling senior citizens throughout the county to take bus excursions that are expense-free for groups of seniors up to $150 per trip.

Under the bus excursion program, a project initiated by County Commissioner Maxine Young, the Office on Aging will charter buses from various buslines and pay the first $150 cost of trips to any destination.

"If the charter fee for any local trip is less than $150, the group of seniors pay nothing," Mrs. Young emphasized.

She added that she expects most of the rented buses to accommodate a minimum of 45 persons, and that larger buses will be engaged, if warranted by the size of the group involved.

She stressed that the Office on Aging does not organize the trips, but only arranges the charter and contributes toward the cost of the transportation.

Mrs. Young is urging all interested senior groups to arrange for trips by contacting the Office on Aging at 224-0952. She pointed out that the groups will be served on a first-come basis and that priority will be given to those using the service for the first time.

"Since I was elected to the board, the bus project has been my No. 1 program," Mrs. Young said.

"The project is essential for seniors because getting out and around is necessary for their mental and physical health, and they need relief from being enclosed for long periods," she added.

A Democrat, Mrs. Young represents District 11 in Detroit and is a member of the Board's Ways and Means and General Government committees and is the board liaison person for senior citizen affairs. She is founder and coordinator of the community Senior Citizens Safety and Security Committee.

Bill would set up repairs exemption

The Wayne County commissioner from Belleville is urging voter support of state legislation which would guarantee property tax exemptions for up to $4,000 in routine home repairs.

"I feel that the average homeowner should receive a reduction in property taxes by securing a return from the local government for making minor repairs," said Commissioner Royce E. Smith (D-26th District). "Every homeowner would be eager to make these repairs, if he could receive a cut in property taxes." The bill recently passed the Senate.

"We need this type of legislation to lower the property taxes, while still increasing the quality of our homes," he continued. "The current law, requiring the raising of assessments because of minor repairs is absolute nonsense. We need to reduce property taxes for the homeowner interested in making minor repairs to improve his roof, or any other part of his home."

Don't be a loser

Kelley offers pointers on investing money

Residents thinking about investing some money may find these pointers from Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley could help keep them from losing their currency.

Kelley cautioned, remember that an investment is a purchase, nothing more, adding that residents are buying a chance to make money.

As with any other purchase, residents should investigate both the seller and the product before handing over their money.

In Michigan, that is easy to do since investors have a law, designed to protect them against fraud, the Uniform Securities Act of 1965. Sometimes called the "Blue Sky Law," it requires all securities and the people who sell them to be registered with the state Department of Commerce.

Also a call to the department's Corporation and Securities Bureau at (517) 373-0485 usually will dispel any doubts the investor may have.

Insist that the salesperson show a "prospectus," a detailed description of the investment, Kelley urged. The law doesn't require it but, if the dealer won't produce it, than it's good cause to be suspicious.

Also, shy away from dealers offering very high interest rates. They usually involve a lot of risk, Kelley added.

The law also makes it illegal for anybody selling securities to defraud customers, lie to them or "forget" important information. Violators are subject to a $5,000 fine, three years in prison or both.

If residents already have made an investment and think they may have been cheated, complain vigorously — to the person who sold the security, Kelley said. He or she may offer you a "recision," which simply means all your money back, plus 6 percent annual interest, he added. A securities dealer, however, is immune to prosecution if he or she offers a recision and it is not accepted within 30 days.

If the dealer refuses to refund the money, the investor can take the case to court, but it has to be within two years after the date of the contract.

If residents are not familiar with the securities market or if they are planning to invest a lot of money, it might be a good idea to have the advice of a financial counselor before you make any move at all, Kelley said.

State colleges get fund increase

An agreement has been reached on a $492,355,000 appropriation to the state's baccalaureate institutions, according to State Rep. Gary Owen (D-2nd District).

The figure represents a $30.1 million increase over the 1975-76 allocation to higher education institutions and a $16.4 million increase over Gov. William Milliken's recommendation for the next fiscal year, beginning Oct. 1.

The increase in the appropriation represents the first step toward the 3-year phase-in of the recently adopted higher education funding model, which consists of three parts: (1) a foundation of support based on statewide performance expectations, (2) an added cost factor derived from role and mission differences and (3) special grants to fund unique programs.

Ultimately the state's investment in higher education will increase approximately $95 million, Owen said.

Owen, the chief architect of the funding approach, added a hope that the new funding model would assure that in coming years the state will

Last chance to enter

City golf deadline is set for Friday

There are only three days remaining to enter the 1976 City Championship Golf Tournament... and only 17 spots left to complete the field.

More than 100 golfers have registered and will play for the city titles of Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Inkster and Canton Township.

"We're sorry but we will not be able to take any more entries after 5 p.m., Fri., July 23," said Bill

Hawley, tournament manager. "When you have 100 to 125 golfers in one tournament, that's a pretty big size tournament."

"And the golf course has other commitments - to its members and other golfers, so it can't handle the extra load," Hawley added.

The tournament will be played Sat., July 31 and Sun., Aug. 1 at Fellow's Creek Golf Course, 2936 Lotz Road in Canton Township.

Sports

Designed to determine the city champs of the participating communities, the tournament has a second object: to determine 5-man teams to play on city teams in the Michigan Parks and Recreation Department state tournament. (The date and site of that tournament have not been set as yet.)

The City Championship tournament will get underway at 8 a.m. on Saturday (July 31). Times and foursomes will be announced in next week's edition. If a golfer's name doesn't appear in that edition, please call the sports editor, Tom Mooradian, for entry confirmation.

The City Championships are open to all amateur male golfers who live or work for a tax-paying or tax-supported institute in any of the competing cities. However, only bona fide residents may represent a city on the team in state play.

There is a $15.50 entry fee of which $14 is for green's and $1.50 for trophy costs.

To enter, please fill out the entry blank accompanying this story and mail it, along with the registration fee, to Associated Newspapers, Sports Desk, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

Please make checks payable to The Associated Newspapers.

Further information about the tournament may be obtained by telephoning sports editor, Tom Mooradian, at 729-4000.

He cards 2 aces in one day

"Incredible." "Unbelievable."

Those are the words Dick Aleks used to describe a "million to one shot" that still has members of the Western Wayne Golf League talking.

The words were directed to a feat accomplished by Norm Lynch, who fired not one - which is remarkable as it is - but two holes in one in one round.

And Lynch, who has been golfing for 30 years, may be the first and only man in recent history to ever card two aces in one round of 18-hole golf.

"I know it may sound unbelievable," related Aleks, the president of the WWGL. "But it's true and there were witnesses to this accomplishment."

The 53-year-old Lynch carded his two holes-in-one at Green Oaks Golf Course in Ypsilanti Township.

Lynch broke his 30-year drought when he aced the 11th hole, a 155-yarder with a 7-iron. The ball hit the green and leaped into the hole.

After receiving congratulations from his colleagues, John Constantino, Ollie Ray and Bob Evans, it wasn't long afterward when Lynch again stunned the group when his 4-iron teeshot at the 165-yard 15th hole hit the fringe and rolled into the cup for his second ace.

Lynch carded 43 for his on the front nine, then jotted down a 38 on the back nine for an 81. A remarkable day.

Another Western Wayne golfer, Jim Doraus, will probably never play alone again.

Doraus bagged a hole-in-one on the 165-yard sixth hole at Green

Oaks, using a 7-iron. It was also his first ace for the 51-year-old golfer, however, it didn't count because there were no witnesses around to verify the rare happening.

But Emile Abi-Aad, a Wayneite, did get his coveted ace - it happened in Sun City, Arizona where Emile was a houseguest of Rupert Hillyard.

Emile scored his first ace in three years of golfing when he found the cup on the 125-yard 14th hole at Willowbrook.

Around at the time to congratulate Abi-Aad were Hillyard, Robert Gaston and Ray Nay. Emile used a 9-iron.

One team title race in Class D

Wayne II is making a sham of the Class D baseball title race.

Six games into the season, the Wayneites have a commanding four-game lead over their closest rivals, and are well on their way to the championship.

The undefeated Wayne contingent spotted Wayne I three runs in the first inning before they rallied to a 6-4 victory. The league-leader received and survived a scare from Wayne II, 7-6, and also beat Inkster 5-0 for their sixth straight victory.

In their only other game, Wayne II scored twice in the top of the seventh to edge Wayne III 6-5. In that one, Keith Johnson's 2-run single in the top of the seventh was the difference.

Jim Canfield, Doug McGill and John Vincil saw mound duty for the winners. Canfield started and pitched three scoreless and hitless innings, then McGill took over and was rapped for four runs and Vincil, who got the victory, finished up.

Don Canfield led the assault on the loser's pitching, collecting a double and single, while Greg Pitt and Johnson each had two-run singles.

Wayne III starter Bob McGinley lasted 5 and one-third innings, gave up four runs and two hits while striking out six and walking and equal number. He gave way to Larry Vojtkofsky who delivered up four hits and two runs in a span of 1 and two-third innings.

Dave Herrst, Steve Morris and Dave Adams each had run-scoring singles for the losers.

Mike Paz twirled a 3-hitter and only one Inkster batter reached third base as Wayne humbled Inkster 5-0. Paz notched seven strikeouts and walked three for the victory.

Canfield again looked good at the plate where he drove in four runs on a double and single. Greg Pitt homered while Jerry Smart and Jeff Edmunds got the other two hits - both singles - off of loser Craig Trosien.

Trosien went the distance, gave up five hits, fanned six and walked an equal number.

Ray Ondejko, Bill Pavlek and Mike Snyder accounted for all of Inkster's hitting.

Wayne II's 7-6 victory went 15 innings before it scored the decisive run. Canfield got aboard via a base on balls in the 15th, stole second then Pitt's point single scored in the run.

Vincil worked 11 innings, was tagged for six runs, fanned 18 and walked seven for the winners, but the decision went to Jim Canfield who threw the final four innings. He held his rivals scoreless, allowed one walk and struck out seven in pitching a two-hitter.

Brother Don checked in with three RBI's as he drilled a homer and a pair of singles. Also checking in with two hits each for the winners were Edmunds, Pitt and Jim Canfield.

Dave Herrst and Tom Banner paced the loser's attack as each cracked two singles. Steve Morris doubled while Dave Adams's two-bagger counted for the RBI's.

Delvin St. Antoine managed to hold off the winners for 11 innings, giving up five runs, and eight hits. He had 12 strikeouts and walked seven before Larry Vojtkofsky took over.

Larry was charged with the loss as he worked the last four innings, gave up two hits and two runs while walking three.

Inkster rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh to jolt Wayne III, 4-2, and win its first game of the season.

Chris McCosky slammed a 3-run homer to settle the issue. Teammate Mike Snyder also collected two hits to help Bill Pavlak win his first of the campaign.

Pavlak went the distance, gave up two runs, five hits while striking out six and walking three.

Wayne III started with St. Antoine, who worked 6 one-third innings before Vojtkofsky was called upon to stop the Inkster rally. In his two-thirds of an inning effort, Larry was tagged for three runs and two hits.

Wayne I wasted Al Rodgers' 2-hit pitching gem as it dropped a cliff-hanger 2-1 to Wayne III. Wayne III scored the decisive runs in the bottom of the fourth after Wayne I got on the board in the top of that inning.

Orv Hartford doubled while mates Robert Nutt, Dan Diadium and Mark Solarz each singled for the losers.

Canton softball leader victim of upset, 14-13

Good's Nursery apparently hasn't been reading the sports section lately.

Nursery, owner of an unimpressive 2-9 record, ran up against Dearborn Fabricating, co-leader of the Canton Township Parks and Recreation's "B" Softball Division and the outcome couldn't be predicted.

The underdogs upset Dearborn 14-13, knocking the tri-leader out of first place.

It looked like another easy win for Dearborn Fab. as it leaped out in front 9-1 in the top of the fourth, capped by a 2-run homer by Dan Divito.

But Good's came back with four runs in the bottom of the fourth on successive singles by Bob Bush, Pat White and Ed Good, a walk and a costly error at first by Jack Ewald, and a single by Joe Daritony.

Good's tallied six more times in the sixth on eight hits, including a triple by Tom Kastelic.

But in the top of the seventh, Fab had the bases loaded, two outs, and the tying run on third. Jim Whitton hit a routine grounder to Steve Furr at short who flipped to Ed Good for the force at second, but Good dropped the ball as the score was knotted 13-13.

In its bottom half of the seventh, Good's made two quick outs, but Joe Daritony lofted a single to right and Gordie Hicke charged the ball too hard as the ball rolled off his glove, allowing Daritony to go all the way to third.

Manager Larry Durkin of Dearborn decided to walk the next two men intentionally to load the bases, setting up a force at any base. But the strategy back-fired as Durkin then walked Furr to bring in pinch-runner Russ Scott with the winning run.

Meanwhile, Clark Block and Little Caesar's both picked up victories to move back into the top spot of their Division.

Little Caesar's had an easy time with sputtering K-Mart, 13-4, with the help of a seven run fourth inning, as they banged out seven hits, including successive triples by Claude Tunison and Randy Williams.

Clark Block had a tough time with Strock Insurance, edging them 11-9. Strock had the tying run on base and the winning run at the plate in the last inning. Doug Reynolds and Joe Lawson had three safeties apiece for the winners.

Meijer Thrifty Acres won its second game in a row, knocking Star Furniture out of the pennant race with a 9-5 victory.

Ron Stepek pitched his second victory of the season in only two appearances and also homered and singled to aid his own cause.

Only two games were played in the A Division last week as rain cancelled the Tuesday and Wednesday schedules.

Three-time softball champs

If the Streakers keep it up, they could be sued for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust laws. The Westland Youth Athletic Association Central West team captured its third straight league title, which could be interpreted by some as a monopoly on the title. Members of this year's team are: (kneeling, from left) Paula Strehl, Maureen Strehl, Karen Suabik, Brenda Collins, Jonelle Tittensor, Ranae

South All-Stars begin title bid

Little Leaguers get down to big business today as tournaments head the Romulus South Senior All-Stars' schedule.

The All-Stars will get their first test July 21 as they travel to Taylor to take on Southwest Detroit in a 5 p.m. game at Taylor Community Center, Pardee Road. The starting lineup includes: Outfielders—Steve Venier, Mike Bossory, and Gerry LaFramboise; Infielders—Vince Tanner, Jim Thomas, Victor Bird, Larry Oaks. The starting pitcher will be Troy Adams, with Tony Cholette getting the starting catcher's duty.

If Romulus South wins its first game, it will then take on the winner of the earlier 3 p.m. match-up between Redford and Lincoln Park on Saturday, July 24.

Other members of the South All-Star team are: Dan Cutcher, Duane Hicks, Doug Smith, Jim Sillivan and Bobby Thompson. Assisting Barry Baumann as manager is Dan Doss as Coach.

Romulus South is also sending two representatives to the Big League All-Star game, of the Suburban Conference. The two members are Don McMann and Mark Kelly. Both are excellent pitchers and fielders. The Suburban All-Star team is being managed by Wade Sullivan of Lincoln Park Central, while Merle Kelly, Manager of the Romulus South Big League team will be his assistant.

The Big League All-Star game will take place on Friday at Quandt Park in Lincoln Park. Mick Ruffolo, Wayne Osborne and Mike Marsiglia of Romulus South were also nominated by the coaches, but did not make the final draft.

In league action Saturday, Romulus South Big League upset powerhouse Lincoln Park North 2-0, as Rick Britz and Don McMann combined for a no-hitter to whip LP North.

The victory enabled Romulus South to tie for first in the Suburban League. John Meyers sparked Romulus with two hits, including a home run. Mike Marsiglia and Mark Kelly also chipped in hits to provide the upset.

In Senior League play, Commercial Carriers and Polka Dot Market are again tied for first place in that division.

Earlier, Polka Dot edged Commercial 8-7 to take a one game lead.

On Friday evening, as Commercial Carrier fought off a gutsy Canejo Trucking team to take a 11-10 victory, Polka Dot was soundly defeated by Baum Funeral Home 9-7.

In results Saturday, Canejo Trucking rolled over Daly Restaurant 12-5. The victory gave Canejo Trucking its third victory in the last four games, after going 0-8 in the opening section of its schedule. Commercial Carriers also kept moving as they turned back Baum Funeral Home 13-4 enabling it to regain a tie for first place.

Romulus North holds elections

There will be a general meeting of Romulus North Little League on Thurs., July 22 at 8 p.m., at the City Hall, 11111 South Wayne Road.

Topping the agenda for the evening will be election of officers. Further information may be obtained by calling Marian Hamel, 941-4274.

By Gordon Charles

Fish are temperamental critters. This fact leads to endless arguments among anglers over the best color for fishing lures. A lack of a real answer on color, though, means it is the fish that just can't make up their minds what they like best.

Red, as every fisherman knows, is suppose to effect a bass the same way it does a bull in a Mexican fighting ring. But it is just supposed to. Yellow is also supposed to attract crappies like a new blond waitress does mid-morning coffee drinkers. But not always.

According to rumors, northern pike prefer gold spoons and nearly everybody knows that lake trout are real suckers for silver ones. Maybe.

None of this is really true 100 percent of the time. Bass may run away from red lures, crappies ignore yellow baits and pike and lakers refuse to have anything to do with an offering, no matter what color it might be. Among people you call this fickleness. But with fish you learn to live with and have fun trying to find the right combination.

Most anglers try to compensate for this uncertainty among fish by carrying enough different lures to make up for it. To carry a complete assortment of every possible color combination in the various lures, though, is an impossibility in the average tackle box. To do so you would have to buy a box the size of a foot locker.

One friend of ours cut down on his tackle load by carrying an assortment of the best action lures plus several cans of pressurized lacquer which dries fast. If a red bait won't catch fish for him he sprays it yellow or purple or silver until he finds what the fish prefer that day.

Some fishermen, though, are not too concerned over favorite lures and colors. One well-known guide, asked to name his best bait, aimed a thumb toward the back of his boat. "My kicker," he replied, meaning his outboard motor.

This makes good sense, too, when you stop to think that it is a good idea to find fish first before they can be caught. That is the real secret - find them first.

Any good angler knows that every square inch of water in a lake or stream is not teeming with finny prizes. One bay may consistently produce good catches of fish, while another bay down the lake, even looking almost identical, may not produce a single strike all season. There are reasons for this, of course, but they are not likely to show on the surface and a casual fisherman can't tell the difference.

Catching fish is therefore almost dependent upon the trial and error method. And, if a guy with a rod in his hand and a tackle box between his feet can try 50 fishing spots in a day's time instead of five, he has a 10 to 1 better chance of bringing in some fish.

Now you can enjoy the convenience of annual meter reading and budget payments, too!

If you'd like the added convenience of having your Gas meter read only once a year, plus all the benefits of our 12-Month Budget Payment Plan, here's good news.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company is pleased to announce the availability of its Annual Meter Reading Program, as recently approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission, in conjunction with its 12-Month Budget Plan. You may now take advantage of the additional convenience of having your Gas meter read only once a year, while continuing to enjoy the practical benefit of paying a level Gas bill all year long.

The Annual Meter Reading Program means just what it says. You'll be billed each month for your established budget payment amount, but your Gas meter will be read only once each year. Modern billing procedures assure that only one annual reading is needed to determine your year-end account adjustment as well as compute your budget payment amount for the next year.

Because the cost of Natural Gas is rising, along with other energy forms, the 12-Month Budget Payment Plan is a customer convenience that continues to make more sense each year. It allows you to pay for your full year's Gas cost over 12 balanced payments, eliminating the normal highs and lows that result from seasonal variations in use. In fact, mid-winter payments can be reduced by nearly half from what they might otherwise be if calculated on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

To begin benefiting from the convenience of both programs, simply mark the enrollment card we're sending you and return it by mail. We'll do the rest to enroll you in the Annual Meter Reading and 12-Month Budget Payment Plan programs.

*To qualify for Annual Meter Reading, you must also be a residential customer on the 12-Month Budget Payment Plan. But it is possible to join the Budget Plan without taking advantage of the additional convenience of Annual Meter Reading.

Westside holds slim edge in duel for Class A title

If league-leading Westside Dompolski could win the rest of its Class A softball games in the Wayne Parks and Recreation League the way it dumped Bennie's, it would be a shoo-in for the title.

Bennie's failed to field the required number of players, giving Westside the decision via a forfeit. That victory kept Dompolski out of reach, but not out of sight of second-place Capraros's Lounge.

The league-leader has a 14-4 won-lost record but still has Capraros breathing down its neck. The second-place team is 13-5 on the year.

Lee Calloway twirled a 2-hitter as Capraros blanked Garden City Sporting Goods 8-0 to remain in contention. Calloway helped his own cause with a pair of singles that drove in two runs. Teammate Cal Glomski chipped in three singles while Bud Daniels, Jerry Nastally each checked in with two hits.

Capraros's Bruce Thompson drilled a triple and single in four appearances at the plate.

Dave Rainer and Joe Kadlec, each with singles, accounted for Garden City's two hits. Kadlec was the losing pitcher. He was tagged for 16 hits.

In other Class A action, Garden City trampled Bennie's 23-5 as the winners amassed a 27-hit attack against a pair of Bennie hurlers, Rick Koko and Jack Eggars.

Ron Miller, who picked up three singles and a double, led Garden City's assault. Terry Kadlec, Al Monzon and Ronnie Robertson each had three hits while Bob Augustine singled and tripled.

Monzon, the winning pitcher, scattered eight hits, two each to Fred Arrington and Bob Madean.

Burghuff's Bar came up with three runs in the top of the seventh to break a 2-all deadlock and win a 5-2 victory over Wayne-Huron Merchants. The victory gave the winners a 10-9 record.

Winning pitcher Bill Weston gave up single runs in the third and fifth innings but his mates scored twice in the third inning and then went on to win it with a 3-run rally in the last frame.

Tim Stone chased home three runs with three singles while Weston also collected two hits off of losing pitcher Doug Brown. Joe Files singled and doubled, John Stafford also turned in with two singles while Larry Russell's base hit drove in one of Wayne's runs.

An eight-run fifth inning burst lifted Capraros's to an 18-3 victory over Mid-Sibley's. Losing pitcher Jeff Hogan gave up three homers and three RBI's to Glomski, Callaway and Jerry Detter, each with three hits.

Callaway, the winner, had his problems with Jerry Young who pounded out three hits. Mike Wilson, Rick Moore, and Hogan each had two hits for the day.

Burghuff's struck for eight runs in the second inning and went on to humble Garden City Sports 13-1 in their confrontation.

Dennis Colligan turned in a 5-hit pitching effort for the winners and was backed up by a 17-hit attack which included Mike Burton's three hits. Mates Tim Stone had two doubles while Norm Beasley, Mike Plagens and Dave Seamen each pounded out two hits.

John Rothermel's two hits topped Garden City's battery.

mathematically behind McMurray Insurance which did not play.

Perlongo went ahead 3-2 in the third on a double by Ken Caksackkar, a walk to Doyle Cates, and a 2-run-triple by Jon Lash. Tim Fotovich then drove in Lash with a single. Smith came back with two runs in the fifth on a single by Steve Styles, a triple by Bill Bufe, and a sacrifice fly by Chuck Morris.

In the sixth, Lash hit a 2-run homer to put Perlongo ahead 5-4, but in the bottom of the seventh, Smith had Tom Yack on first with a single and one out. Bufe hit a double-play ball to short, but Caksackkar booted it and then threw wild to first to score Yack, and Bufe went to second.

Chuck Morris singled and Greg Fryling drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

In the other A Division game, Plymouth Equipment blasted Latin Quarter 12-4. Pat Zelek had four hits, including two doubles, for the winners.

Smith Realty is two games behind McMurray in the loss column.

Over in the Women's League, Moeller and Mobil Lounge both came up with victories to remain deadlocked in first place with only one game remaining.

Mobil Lounge had a surprisingly easy time with Meijer's 24-5. Joleen Melaas had three singles, and Carol Smith belted out a double, triple, and two long home-runs for 10 RBI's. Shelly Arner and Vickie Wilhelm homered for the losers.

Moeller took care of winless College Park 24-16 as it tallied 18 runs in the first inning. But College Park came back with 14 runs of their own in the 3rd to put a scare into Moeller.

Moeller came back with six runs in their half of the third to put it away.

All-Stars' game set

East will meet West at the Romulus Ladies Softball League's annual softball All-Stars' softball game.

The game will be held on Sun., July 25 at 1 p.m., on Romulus Senior High's diamond. The game is to raise money for charity.

Tickets may be purchased from team captains and at the gate. Donations are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

It's anyone's ball game in Romulus

With a little more than two weeks remaining to the regular season, none of the four Romulus Parks and Recreation softball league championships has been decided.

Huron Valley Steel, the front-runner most of the year in the "A" Division, fell into a 2-way tie for first with Bo's as sixth place Rocco's upset the league-leader, 10-8.

Huron and Bo's are deadlocked with 10-3 records. However, Baum's Funeral Home, with a 10-4 record, is very much alive in the title race.

Meanwhile, over in the "B" League, Difco is having a difficult time convincing second place American Hospital to forget about the coveted championship trophy.

Difco rattled Romulus City Drugs 12-1 and also edged Beck & Howell 16-13 to keep a firm grip on first place. They're 11-3 on the year. But American Hospital disposed of Crovas 13-4 and exploded for a 21-11 victory over Beck & Howell to stay a half-game out of first (10-3).

The little race in both women's leagues remains close. Over in the West Division, Baum's and the Young Pioneers are on a collision course as both have 6-1 records and find themselves atop of the standings.

The Young Pioneers survived a close call from the 2001 contingent, 8-7, while Capt. Nemo's handed the previously undefeated Baum's its first setback of the campaign 15-6.

Over in the East, the undefeated Odd Squad stretched its winning streak to six-games but Dean & Co., Polka Dot - both 5-1 - and Seven-Eleven Party Store (5-3) still have a good shot at the title.

Dino's exploded for nine runs in the fourth inning to turn back the 69ers 14-9. Faye Frederick and Alice Straton each accounted for three runs batted in. The two were joined by Terry Druyor in collecting home runs for the day.

Sue Fitzpatrick, the winning pitcher, gave up 10 hits.

The Young Pioneers scored in the bottom of the seventh to break a 7-all knot to edge the 2001 Club, 8-7. Rose Thoms, the winning pitcher, received ample hitting support from Jane Shaffer who hammered two home runs.

Baum's winning streak came to an end when Capt. Nemos put it all together which included Sharon Wilson's four hits - a triple and three singles which accounted for four RBI's. Mates Sue Salajan and Marilyn Banks split six hits between them with Miss Salajan driving in four runs.

Delores Trevino scattered eight hits as Polka Dot Party Store put down Greenbriar 16-6 in their meeting last week. Miss Trevino helped her cause with a pair of singles and three RBI's.

Flyers set football registration

The Romulus Flyers Junior Football League will hold player registration on Saturday.

Players, ages 9 through 13, should show up at the Farmer's Market, in the Progressive Hall parking lot near Five Points between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. in order to sign up.

The sponsor of the teams that will play in the Western Suburban League is the Romulus Athletic Club.

TIPS FOR A SUCCESSFUL GARAGE SALE

There is a lot more to a really successful Garage Sale than you might think, but doing it right is simply a matter of organization and attention to certain important details. To give you the ingredients of a successful sale, here are a few timely tips:

- WHAT TO SELL
Simply stated, anything that still has usability and some value is a good Garage Sale item. So first you must go through the storage areas of your basement, attic or garage and determine what has sales potential. Make a list as you go. You should find such things as garden tools, old furniture, good clothing, toys, musical instruments, sewing machines and the like. You may be surprised at how many articles you will have.
- ADVERTISING
Obviously the best way to advertise your sale is in the Classified Advertising section of your newspaper. These ads are read avidly by people looking for bargains. You can keep your ad fairly short and still effective by listing the most appealing items separately and then lumping others in categories, such as furniture, clothes, toys, antiques, etc. Of course you will want to use strategically placed signs in the neighborhood -- in supermarkets, laundromats, barber shops and schools. Spread the word by mouth, also, and you will find that news will travel fast.
- PRICING
Everything must be priced to save both you and the customer valuable time. Start by listing all items by category on an inventory sheet. Antiques, for example, should be listed separately from other items. Clothing should be priced at approximately one-eighth the original cost. Any clothing 10 to 15 years old may have nostalgic appeal and can be priced slightly higher. It might even be placed in the antiques category. Electrical appliances that work should bring one-fourth the original cost. Most prices on most articles will be influenced by condition of the items. A good-looking item can carry a good price. If you are involved in a double sale, which we will discuss next, be sure to color code your own prices.
- DOUBLE SALE
Many people have found it worthwhile to combine their Garage Sale with that of a friend or neighbor. This saves money on costs of advertising and provides a helping hand in arranging items, pricing them, dealing with customers, besides providing welcome companionship. Don't forget to keep separate inventories and different price color coding. Another important advantage is a more impressive array of merchandise.
- LENGTH OF THE SALE
Most productive sales are those that run at least three days. Since tests show that Thursday is the best day to advertise, the logical start of a sale would be Friday. This gives you the entire weekend in which to conduct your business. After a day or two the word will get around and supplement your advertising efforts. After the most attractive items are gone, you may wish to reconsider and change prices on those articles which have been slow to move.
One-day sales may be profitable for the experienced Garage Sale promoters but in the beginner's case many things can go wrong, such as a rainy day, and you may have to advertise all over again.
- SETTING UP YOUR SALE
The few days before your sale, naturally, will be concerned with selection and pricing, but there are some other important preliminary steps. You will need change, so get to the bank and get plenty of small bills and various size coins. Set up a headquarters table conveniently located for your customers and from where you can supervise the operation. Here you will keep your change, your adding machine, your inventory lists. Always have someone in attendance. You also may want to install a hat and coat rack and a mirror for the use of those who may want to try on garments. Arrange sale items in neat rows and allow plenty of walking room between displays.
- DON'T HESITATE TO ASK FOR ADVICE
Your Classified Advertising department is always ready to advise you on your Garage Sale. When you advertise it, ask for help from one of our Ad-Visors so that your message will have maximum impact. And good luck!
